

The only thing that's modified is your yield.

We want to bury a little myth. Oil produced from Roundup Ready® canola does not contain any genetically modified material. All genetic material is removed during the refining process so all you get is 100% pure canola oil. When you grow Roundup Ready canola you also reduce the amount of persistent herbicides leaching into our waterways. Which means you can enjoy the yield advantages knowing that the environment and your crops are better off.
